Judge Joseph A. Kuhn died at the Sisters' Hospital in Port Townsend, Wash., on Oct. 4. He was one of the pioneers of that place. Judge Kuhn was a native of East Berlin, Pa., having been born at the old homestead on the left bank of the Big Conowago, Sept. 1, 1841. Here school and college, taught school, engaged in many enterprises and was well known to all the young people of the community. During the Civil War he located at Omaha and enlisted in a Nebraska regiment, with which he served until the end of the conflict. He crossed the plains several times before any railroad was outlined, and then crossed the mountains and after many adventures reached Port Townsend where his brother, Dr. Louis DeBarth Kuhn, had been located some years. Here he studied and for fifty years practiced law; serving at times as Assemblyman, Senator, Probate Judge, Mayor and in many other offices. He was a member of Conventions to arrange for admission of the Territory of Washington into the Union as a State and to prepare the State Constitution. In this work he followed in the footsteps of a maternal ancestor, Col. Jacob Morgan, of Berks county, who in 1776 performed similar service in preparing for the Statehood of Pennsylvania. He rendered good service to his State as a Commissioner of Immigration, but financially found himself in error in insisting that Port Townsend would undoubtedly continue the principal Port of Entry for Puget Sound. Singularly his death occurred on the 11th anniversary of the birth of his father, the late Colonel Joseph J. Kuhn, who at the time of his death in 1778 was one of the Associate Judges of Adams county and well known to our venerable readers. This death of Joseph A. Kuhn almost severs the connection of his generation in his family with the present generation. All his sisters and all brothers, save one, John R. Kuhn, of East Berlin, and Brooklyn, N. Y., having preceded him to the Promised Land.

George Edward Naylor died at Camp Lee, Va., on Tuesday, from the "flu." He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Naylor, of Menallen township. He was a machinist and had been employed at saw mill and had lived in Ohio for a time. He leaves three brothers and three sisters, Guy Naylor, of Camp Dix; Maud, Rath, Glen, Ora and Arthur, at home.

LeGrand Hospelhorn died at his home on East Middle street, Wednesday evening from the "flu," in his 39th year. He was improving when he had a relapse. He leaves besides his wife who was Miss Mattie Scott, of Freedom township, two sons, Danner and Randolph. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hospelhorn, of Emmitshburg, and a brother, Bertram Hospelhorn, of Hagerstown.

Ditzler, interment in Bermudian Cemetery. She leaves two sons and two daughters, R. I. Myers, of Camp Hill; Walter Myers, of Reading; Mrs. Anna March, of Hampton; and Mrs. H. C. Garver, of Middletown.

Charles Henry Tuft, of Reading, died on Tuesday in his 28th year. He was a designing engineer for the Daniels Motor Company of Reading. He leaves his wife, who was Miss Myrtle M. Inglebert, of this place, one sister and two brothers, Miss Elizabeth Tuft and Morton Tuft, of Philadelphia, and Thomas Tuft, of Washington. Interment was in the Evergreen Cemetery on last Saturday.

WEEK STORY OF THE "FLU"

WITH THE WONDERFUL DEMONSTRATION OF GOOD WILL.

The Epidemic is Abating—Few New Cases—A Number Yet Ill in the Hospitals.

Gettysburg has nearly reached the end of the most heartrending epidemic the town has ever been through and it was accompanied by the most soul-stirring demonstration of good will. Camp Colt with a population of nearly six thousand has had over one hundred deaths and the "flu" has numbered among its victims citizens in town and county and our boys in other camps. Distress has pervaded the hearts of our people but around this dark cloud is the glow of the wonderful demonstration of our people in town and county and nearby places. Human kindness sought expression in every conceivable way.

Father Boyle set the pace by giving Xavier Hall as a hospital and that act prevented the death rate from being much higher. From town and county has flowed a continuous donation for every need Xavier Hospital and Camp Hospital would have. The one comment of physicians and nurses has been "wonderful, wonderful." The needs daily developing were immediately fulfilled. Provisions were needed, and donations of chicken, meats, eggs, butter, squabs, jellies, fruits, and vegetables have come from all parts of the county to help provide maintenance at hospitals. Town women have made collections, gathered provisions and have prepared food at their homes.

The Soldiers' Club House used as a nurses' home has been a God-send. Nurses have been responding day after day to the calls sent out by Prof. Lamond. Every room in the house has been occupied. Over a dozen nurses have given their services, among them Mrs. J. E. Kempter, a graduate nurse, and Miss Lavinia Dock, a Johns Hopkins graduate nurse, both of Chambersburg, and Miss Lydia Miller, of Greencastle. Several of the nurses contracted the "flu" at their work of saving and in turn have been cared for.

A most distressing feature has been the fact that the boys who were detailed to help at the nursing have given their lives to save others, the first being Grant Everson of the 38th Battalion, who contracted the disease while helping at Xavier Hospital and died after a three days' illness.

With the beginning of this week a strict quarantine went into effect at camp in effort to stamp out the disease. There have been few new cases, some days have gone by without any new ones developing, but the danger is not over for those yet in the hospitals.

An Inspector Surgeon visited Camp Colt on Sunday and after his inspection declared the situation as wonderfully well handled and due in part to the co-operation of our people. He said the percentage of loss of those afflicted, over 1000, was not heavier here than at other camps, and in fact was lighter than at several of the camps. The sanitation program was highly commended.

St. James Church has greatly helped the situation. A room was provided for the detail of boys helping at Xavier Hospital when off duty and needing sleep. Two other rooms furnished with cots have been provided for visiting relatives. Many homes have been opened to relatives of sick boys.

Prof. Lamond succumbed to the "flu" last Saturday but with careful nursing is now out of danger. There has been a great mass of all kinds of work to be done and willing hands have been ready to do it. The local Red Cross departments have been working day and night.

The bodies as sent away have been given military honor. They have been taken to the G. A. R. Hall and military escorts have accompanied them to departing trains, one of the solemn daily incidents of our lives in the past two weeks. Three soldiers have been buried in the National Cemetery, Stevens and Gifford, reported last week.

Mere Pork Wanted from County.

In order to supply the demand for meat the Adams County Farm Bureau has included some definite work on Economical Pork Production in the Farm Bureau Program for 1918. The U. S. Department of Agriculture has asked Pennsylvania for a 5 per cent increase in pork production for the coming year. Adams county's quota of this increase is 1170-hogs or an increase of 230 brood sows. A careful study of Adams county's agriculture has shown that pork raising has been increasing in the past year. Feeding experiments at the Pennsylvania State College have shown conclusively the advisability of using green forage. By the use of forage crops the Pennsylvania State College experiments record a saving of $5.50 to $4.50 in the grain feed cost of producing 100 lbs. of pork. Since the demand for meat is urgent and since it has been demonstrated that pork can be produced at a profit the Farm Bureau asks further co-operation of the Adams county farmers in an economical pork production campaign for the coming year.

The pig will convert raw food products of pasture, grain, dairy by-products and slops into meat at a cheaper figure than any other meat-making animal. The pig consumes more feed in proportion to its live weight, uses less feed in producing a pound of gain and yields a higher percentage of dressed carcass to live weight than either sheep or cattle.

Farms that have been carrying one or more brood sows can well afford to increase this number at least one brood sow for the year 1918-19. Extra brood sows should be selected from late fall pigs of last year or from an early spring litter of this season. Only sows of desirable type should be held over as brood stock. Straight, squarely placed legs, a strong bone, a well arched back, a long deep side, a full deep ham; these are the main points to be considered in selecting a sow for breeding purposes. A sow of this description will produce an unusually good litter if mated with a pure bred boar that is at least as good or superior to the female in the points enumerated. There is an old saying that "Like begets like" this is unquestionably a true breeding axiom. A marked improvement in the type of pigs will be in evidence if careful selection and mating is practiced.

Thompson, who for several years has been conducting the warehouse and coal business at Granite Station, has sold his property consisting of the warehouse, dwelling and other buildings with 15 acres of land and all the equipment to Robert A. Bulgaria Surrenders.

The Huns have lost an accomplice in their world war murder. Bulgaria by an armistice has surrendered, the terms being:

Bulgaria agrees to evacuate all the territory she now occupies in Greece and Serbia, to demobilize her army immediately, and surrender all means of transport to the Allies.

Bulgaria will also surrender her boats and control of navigation on the Danube, and concede to the Allies free passage through Bulgaria for the development of military operations.

All Bulgarian arms and ammunition are to be stored under the control of the Allies, to whom is conceded the right to occupy all important strategic points.

The armistice means a complete military surrender, and Bulgaria ceases to be a belligerent. The armistice will remain in operation until a final general peace is concluded.

BE SURE YOU ARE RIGHT

The wonderful accomplishments of our Country in a little over a year and a half in getting nearly two million men to France to fight our fight, to preserve the liberty and freedom that we have been having, tells better than words what President Wilson and those who have been back of him have been able to do for the Country and for You.

The people of the United States are back of the President because he has shown he has the interests of the Country and our people at heart.

One of the principal supporters in Congress of President Wilson has been and is Mr. Brodbeck, your present Representative. He has stood by the President and for You. At all times has been on the job in Washington, and has handled thousands of matters for the individual residents of this Congressional District.

Mr. Brodbeck always is looking out for your interest, and the experience that he has had as a Member of Congress is of the greatest value to you, particularly at this time.

Nearly everyone in some way has some one close to them connected with the Army or Navy. These boys must be backed up. Mr. Brodbeck is backing them up and looking out for their interests. At the same time he is looking out for your interests.

It is not only your personal interests, but to the interests of the Country at large, and means much to President Wilson, that Mr. Brodbeck be returned to Congress.

You can do your part, and remember well, "It doesn't pay to swap horses in the middle of the stream."

Every dollar you put in Liberty Bonds gives you the very best investment in the world; your money is safer than if in your pocket, and by investing your money in bonds or War Saving Certificates, you are not only helping yourself, but your Country as well.

I am only a cog

I am only a cog in a giant machine, a link of an endless chain:—

And the rounds are drawn, and the rounds are fired,
and the empties return again;

Railroad, lorry and limber, battery, column and park;
To the shelf where the set fuse waits the breech,
from the quay where the shells embark.

We have watered and fed, and eaten our beef; the long dull day drags by,

As I sit here watching our "Archibalds" strafing an empty sky;

Puff and flash on the far-off blue round the speck
one guesses the plane—

Smoke and spark of the gun-machine that is fed by the endless chain.

I am only a cog in a giant machine, but a vital link
of the chain;

And the captain has sent from his wagon-line to fill
his wagons again;

From the wagon-limber to gunpit dump; from loader's forearm at breech

To the working party that melts away when the shrapnel bullets screech.

So the restless section pulls out once more in column
of route from the right

At the tail of a blood-red afternoon; so the flux of another night

Bears back the wagons we fill at dawn to the sleeping column again—

Cog on cog in the gun-machine, link on link in the chain!

— by Gilbert Frankau

GILBERT FRANKAU

The ammunition carrier is only a link in the great war machine, but he is as vital a link in the chain as the man who goes over the top. And back of the ammunition carrier comes the ammunition maker and the railroad worker and the thousands of varieties of war workers until it all comes straight home to the individual man and woman who helps save the necessities of life and refrains from wasteful spending in order to help our fighting men. Every link in the fighting chain, every cog in the war machine must be of the strongest steel. Every heart must be steel against waste these days. We are all part of the great battle—let us each do our part and make it a great part.

Every Acre Is an Arsenal

Every acre of land that you farm grows more than the crops you harvest.

It grows actual dollars and cents which represent big guns and high explosives, swords and rifles, machine guns and bombs, food and clothing, everything that our brave soldiers and sailors

Therefore, every one of your acres is an arsenal which can turn out weapons and supplies for our men if—

Huns Ask for Armistice.

Germany, through the Swiss Government, has sent a note saying: It accepts the program set forth by the President of the United States in his message to Congress on Jan. 8, and in his later pronouncements, especially his speech of Sept. 27, as a basis for peace negotiations.

With a view to avoid further bloodshed, the German Government requests the immediate conclusion of an armistice on land and water and in the air.

The President in his last address having stated that the words of outlaws could not be accepted addressed the following inquiry before answering:

Before making reply to the request of the Imperial German Government and in order that that reply shall be as candid and straightforward as the momentous interests involved require, the President of the United States deems it necessary to assure the exact meaning of the himself as Imperial Chancellor. Does note of the Imperial German Government mean that the Imperial German Government accept the terms laid down by the President in his address to Congress of January last and in subsequent addresses and that its object in entering into negotiations would be right to arrive at the practical terms of such negotiations?

The President feels bound to say with regard to the suggestion of an armistice that he does not feel at liberty to propose a cessation of arms to a Government with which the Government of the United States is associated in the Central Powers, and as the armistice of those powers is, in effect, a condition of the peace of the world, and good faith of any armistice would manifestly require the consent of the Central Powers, and that to withdraw from them is to withdraw from invaded territory.

The Opening Show and Sale of Autumn Coats and Suits Dresses Skirts Waists Is Set for Monday, September 9th

The assortment is large. We planned it to meet every requirement of women who demand up-to-the minute styles combined with undeniable quality—who seek service rather than display. As such, ours is a thoroly representative stock, from which no worthy style-thought has been omitted.

Fortunately, makers with whom we have dealt for years were abundantly able to meet all our demands—they were as interested as ourselves in keeping up a reputation they had helped us to build.

We insisted on cloth-quality and exacted exceptional workmanship. Styles were abundant—but real old fashioned values were scarce.

Yet these makers had provided by advance orders for nearly adequate supplies for this season. With goods in stock they were able to undersell many of their rivals. Thus it happens that many prices are quite close to the old values which you must have thought were gone forever.

In every respect ours is a very remarkable showing—in point of variety, in point of real quality, in point of values which are not likely to be equalled anywhere.
